the Rules framed thereunder were amended to address the difficulties encountered in the implementation of the Act and to counter the misuse of the techniques developed to select the sex of the child before conception. While the amended Act was published in the Official Gazette on 20.1.2003, the amended Rules came into effect from 14.2.2003. The objective of these amendments is to ban the use of sex-selection techniques before or after conception as well as misuse of pre-natal diagnostic techniques for sex selective abortions and to regulate such techniques.

The State/UT level Supervisory Boards on the line of the Central Supervisory Board at the Centre have been introduced for monitoring and reviewing the implementation of the Act in States/UTs. The State/UT level Appropriate Authorities have been made a multimember body for better implementation and monitoring of the Act in the States. Provision has been made for creation of similar Appropriate Authorities at the District Level for implementation of the Act. More stringent punishments are prescribed under the Act so as to serve as a deterrent for minimizing violations of the Act. Appropriate Authorities are empowered with the powers of Civil Court for search, seizure and sealing the machines, equipments and records of the violators of law including sealing of premises and commissioning of witnesses. The sale of ultrasound machines has been regulated through laying down the condition of sale only to the bodies registered under the Act.

Incidentally, the Union Ministry of Women & Child Development have informed that they have included in the Annual Plan for 2007-2008 a scheme for the survival and development of the girl child, viz. 'Conditional Cash Transfer for girl child with Insurance Cover' for the purposes of giving financial incentives to the family of the girl child, based on fulfilment of the following four conditions:

(1) Birth and registration of the girl child.

(2) Immunization.

(3) Retention in school.

(4) Delaying marriage beyond 18 years of age.

One of the agencies for implementing the Scheme is the Panchayat.
